

In the off-season, when Santa chooses his helpers, he's careful to select only the very best. People who exhibit the same qualities of kindness, generosity, and genuine caring of Mr. Claus himself, along with a twinkle in the eye, and a great sense of humor.

When he needed someone for his assistant in Jamestown, therefore, he marched straight to the post office and tagged Ed Booth for this important job.